

THE TAOS NEWS

Cultivating entrepreneurship

Victor Mascareñas gives tours of the greenhouse, Mobile “Matanza” unit and buildings of the Taos County Economic Development Corporation (TCEDC), during the May 2-4 Sustain Taos’ 2008 Farm & Food Expo. The event’s primary purpose was to inspire Taoseños to cultivate gardens. Though attendance was fairly light, the event helped plant valuable seeds for area residents.

The grounds around TCEDC are covered with various tables offering plants, food, art and even water purification systems.

Food for thought

Heyam Khweis sets up shop with her famous Arabian Nights hummus, pita breads and other delicacies during the weekend Farm & Food Expo at the Taos County Economic Development Corporation’s complex.

Folks were treated to home-grown radishes in the greenhouse.